

NEELEY SCHOOL OF BUSINESS

ISAIAH DE DIOS

I would like to continue to be a member of SGA so that I may continue to represent the voices of those I share a classroom with in both my Neeley classes and campus in general. Whether its through planning and voting on legislature presented in both house or duties fulfilled within my committee, I hope to continue to contribute to the changes and choices SGA makes here at TCU.

CULLEN STEWARD

I want to be a member of the SGA House Representatives because I want to continue to help make a difference on campus. Everyone knows that there are things that need to be changed around campus but not everyone has the time to try and make a difference. I am someone that is willing to get involved and make things better for the student body in any way I can. I want to bring the concerns of the student body to SGA so that we are better able to do things that will make the experience better for the students here at TCU. With my previous involvement in SGA I believe campus is better off having someone who not only has the drive but also the past experience to be able to know how to get things done and get them done more efficiently.

AINSLEY ELLIOTT

I chose to come to TCU because of the sense of community founded by the students and staff and how proud they were to be Horned Frogs. SGA is a large part of making sure that everything runs smoothly for the students, faculty, and administrators, so we can continue to embody that purple spirit that makes TCU so unique. SGA is an integral part of keeping the focus on the well-being of the student population, as well, and I know I would be a fit representative of the TCU student body, especially when it came to voicing the concerns and praises of my peers. It is vital to me that every student feels welcomed and that they have a voice on this campus, because TCU truly is full of opportunities for all people. I currently work in the business school, as well as being a Pre-Business Major, which means that I see and assist students quite often throughout the day. Joining SGA would allow me to foster a similar connection with fellow Horned Frogs outside of a school setting. Plus, I pride myself in my organizational skills and my go-getter personality, so when there is an idea, I can craft a thorough plan and successfully execute it. Finally, SGA would improve my leadership qualities, as I could work on refining my strengths in a team setting and make differences on this campus for current and future passionate Horned Frogs!

CHANDLER QUAVE

In this past year as a Neeley representative, I have grown both professionally and personally. Coming into the organization, I was completely unaware of how much beneficial change our Student Government was responsible for at TCU. Serving on both the Dining and Academic Affairs Committees has allowed me to learn more about the internal processes that most students are unaware of here. Through this opportunity, I've familiarized myself with writing legislation, built my confidence in sharing my thoughts regarding controversial issues, and made connections with inspiring individuals who have opened my eyes to new perspectives and outlooks. My goal in being a representative has always been to speak for all of those who I represent, not just the majority. In doing this, I hope to continue to have productive conversations with my classmates in Neeley about their concerns and expectations, as well as communicate effectively with those who have the power to make the necessary changes. I believe campus needs me because I'm not afraid to speak up on the behalf of others, even if their opinions differ from my own. A core value that I've developed through my experience, both personally and through this organization, is that everyone's voice deserves to be heard. I hope to continue to be a contributing voice to SGA's conversations that represent not only my college, but the well-being of the TCU community.

HENRY WORKMAN PITCOCK

I want to be involved in decision making on campus, and I am willing to devote myself to enhancing the experience of students on campus.

Diversity does not mean a mere difference in race, gender, age, or ethnicity. It means different viewpoints. 2 people may look completely different but if they were born and raised in a common environment, diversity is not achieved. In that sense, I am proud to inform you that I have a perspective that no one else has, shaped by different environments that I have immersed myself in. I lived in South Korea until I was 8 years old, moved to Vietnam and resided for 5 years with my family as missionaries, and came to the United States to study in a predominantly Hispanic high school. These cultural settings nurtured me to become an "adaptor" who can not only survive but also compete with myself to produce the best outcome possible. I proved this to myself (by the grace of God) by becoming a full-ride international student at TCU.

In the late 1990s, Chancellor Michael Ferrari and Dr. Cornell Thomas initiated the charge for a more diverse and inclusive TCU, emphasizing that diversity of viewpoints and experiences are essential for a true academic environment seeking to understand the world we share. My desire to contribute to their beliefs, and my yearn for learning how a student government works in an American college drew me to submit the application. I will do my best and once again prove myself if I am given the opportunity as a representative. Thank you.

CADE SULLIVAN

I'm rerunning for SGA's House of Representatives because I believe that I am able to represent the needs of my potential constituents in the Neeley School of Business well. My variety of experiences and involvements at TCU allow me to understand the viewpoints of my peers. On campus I'm involved in Delta Sigma Pi, TCU Catholic, Mock Trial, the Honors College Community Service Club, as well as TheCrew.

Our community has battled through tough times with Covid-19 and is excited to be past the worst of the pandemic. Returning to normal is no easy task, especially seeing how the number of student events has increased dramatically. While obviously a great boon for the campus, this presents logistical issues. Determining not only time, but also location and budget allotment for events can be rather difficult. These are issues which I am familiar with, having a background in event planning from memberships in organizations like TheCrew. I take great pride in TCU's student involvement and hope to continue contributing to the tremendous growth it has seen. My first semester in the House has been an enjoyable one, and I hope to be present again next year!

DELAINE BELLOWS

Being a part of the SGA House of Representatives for the past three years has been one of the best experiences I have had at TCU. This past year, I have had the privilege of being on the SGA House Executive Board and serving as Parliamentarian for the 108th session. It was such a rewarding experience to be able to attend House meetings every week while working behind-the-scenes to make sure everything was running smoothly.

Campus needs me because I have experience. There are not many people who spend all four years in SGA, but I want to be one of them. I have seen the improvements the organization can make to this campus, and I am motivated to continue to make more. Every Tuesday I walk into a room filled with people who are passionate about wanting to make TCU better and work to provide an environment where students, professors, and staff feel comfortable, happy, and noticed. Continuing my time on SGA would mean the ability to keep collaborating with my peers on projects that amplify the benefits TCU offers and to establish connections with members of all different major programs to create an inclusive environment. It is an association that I could not be prouder of and would love the opportunity to continue to serve the campus for my final year.

DAVID BLAKE OLIVER

This year at TCU, I have been heavily involved in Frog Aides. We have been able to accomplish a lot as just a sub-sector of SGA. After connecting with current SGA members, I have learned how much more we can continue to accomplish in the house. My 4 year high school experience with student government, TCU business involvement, and Frog Aides experience has prepared me to represent the Neeley School of Business and TCU as a whole to the best of my ability.

JACOB SCHRIVER

I believe that for people to make things better, you have to involve yourself and work at it. After my first year in Frog Aides, I enjoyed the idea that students can actively change their campus just by voicing concerns. If re-elected, I will continue to involve myself in our university with students and issues that can actively change our campus. Through peer connections, I hope to actively work to achieve the desired change that each student wants to see. Across campus, I hope to encourage more interactions between House Representatives and members of the TCU community. Through service over this past year, I was able to actively contribute as a member of the Dining Committee. This experience provided opportunities for me to voice student opinion about on-campus dining. Through these interactions, I was able to learn more about some of the dining issues on campus and how they can best be addressed.

WILLIAM BROWNING

I want to be a part of SGA because I believe that I can aid in making campus a better place. In SGA, I would be determined to helping make campus a better place for everyone here. I believe that I am someone that can take all things into account when discussing decisions, and someone that is open minded to new ideas. Overall, I believe that my critical thinking and determination amongst other skills make me an ideal candidate for SGA at TCU.

LANDON BONADIMAN

I want to be a member of the SGA House of Representatives because I feel that I am just getting started. Through my past year of service, I feel that I took a backseat in many instances and took the time to learn. Now, as it has been evident this semester, I am actively taking part in making SGA and Texas Christian University a better place for every student. I feel that I have represented my constituency through the bills I have passed, the pros and cons I have given, and my overall involvement in the house. I feel that I have much more to give and that I am just getting started. I feel that I am a qualified, respected candidate who can adequately and responsibly represent the students of the TCU Neely school of business.

SIDDHANT MAHESHWARI

A small activity in one of the frog aides meeting suddenly asked everyone to write their “why” in life under 1 minute. I was overwhelmed and surprised at the same time because I love doing whatever I am a part of but what is really my “why”? After 55 seconds of pondering, the answer came from within in the last 5 seconds, and it was “To be the change, I Wish to see in the world”. This Is the why I Get out of my bed every morning, also because of I have an 8am but because every day gives out a new opportunity to change something, make an impact and grow ourselves. SGA house of reps is a solid bridge made of authority and passion which will help me make an impact.

EMALEE LAVEZZO

I was a representative for Neeley this past fall and enjoyed being able to be apart of something bigger at TCU. I was able to only write one piece of legislation but it was a neat experience to see change being made on campus. I feel that TCU has a good first year experience but it could improve for first year students and transfer students! I feel I can be a leader and can actively listen to my peers about their concerns. One of my biggest strengths is being a communicator and feel I be a good liaison for my constituency as well as the rest of my TCU peers.

TRINITY CASEY

I would like to be a part of SGA’s house of representatives because I deeply value the current and future success of TCUs campus and student body. I see changes that could be made to build upon the foundation already provided by students before. Having the opportunity to be a part of upholding the progress of our school is a responsibility that comes with honor and privilege. This opportunity would allow me to develop skills such as communication, teamwork, and leadership, all while being able to serve the community that I love.
